A PROCLAMATION.

VICTORIA R.

WHEREAS We are happily at Peace with all Sovereigns, Powers, and States:

And whereas, notwithstanding Our utmost Exertions to preserve Peace between all the Sovereign Powers and States now at War, Hostilities have unhappily commenced between His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Austria on the one Part, and His Majesty the King of Sardinia and His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of the French on the other Part:

And whereas a State of War now exists between His Imperial Majesty The Emperor of Austria on the one Part, and His Majesty The King of Sardinia and His Imperial Majesty The Emperor of the French on the other Part, and between their respective Subjects and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas We are on Terms of Friendship and amicable Intercourse with all and each of these Sovereigns, and with their several Subjects and others inhabiting within their Countries, Territories, or Dominions:

And whereas great Numbers of Our loyal Subjects reside and carry on Commerce, and possess Property and Establishments, and enjoy various Rights and Privileges, within the Domions of each of the aforesaid Sovereigns, protected by the Faith of Treaties between Us and each of the aforesaid Sovereigns:

And whereas We, being desirous of preserving to Our Subjects the Blessings of Peace, which they now happily enjoy, are firmly purposed and determined to abstain altogether from taking any Part, directly or indirectly, in the War now unhappily existing between the said Sovereigns, their Subjects and Territories, and to remain at Peace with and to maintain a peaceful and friendly Intercourse with all and with each of them, and their respective Subjects, and others inhabiting within any of their Countries, Territories, and Dominions, and to maintain a strict and impartial Neutrality in the said Hostilities and War unhappily existing between them:

We, therefore, have thought fit, by and with the Advice of Our Privy Council, to issue this Our Royal Proclamation:

And We do hereby strictly charge and command all Our loving Subjects to govern themselves accordingly, and to observe a strict Neutrality in and during the aforesaid Hostilities and War, and to abstain from violating or contravening either the Laws and Statutes of the Realm in this Behalf, or the Law of Nations in relation thereto, as they will answer to the contrary at their Peril:

And whereas in and by a certain Statute made and passed in the Fifty-ninth Year of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to prevent the "enlisting or Engagement of His Majesty's Subjects to serve in a Foreign Service, "and the fitting out or equipping, in His Majesty's Dominions, Vessels for Warlike "Purposes, without His Majesty's Licence," it is amongst other Things declared and enacted as follows:—

"That if any Person within any Part of the United Kingdom, or in any Part of His Majesty's Dominions beyond the Seas, shall, without the Leave and Licence of His Majesty for that Purpose first had and obtained as aforesaid, equip, furnish, fit out, or arm, or attempt or endeavour to equip, furnish, fit out, or arm, or procure to be equipped, furnished, fitted out, or armed, or shall knowingly aid, assist, or be concerned in the equipping, furnishing fitting out, or arming, of any Ship or Vessel, with Intent or in order that such Ship or Vessel shall be employed in the Service of any Foreign Prince, State, or Potentate, or of any Foreign Colony, Province, or Part of any Province or People, or of any Person or Persons exercising or assuming to exercise any Powers of Government in or over any Foreign State, Colony, Province, or Part of any Province or People, as a Transport or Store Ship, or with Intent to cruise or commit Hostilities against any Prince, State, or Potentate, or against the Subjects or Citizens of any Prince, State, or Potentate, or against the Persons exercising or assuming to exercise the Powers of Government in any Colony, Province, or Part of any Province or Country, or against the Inhabitants of any Foreign Colony, Province, or Part of any Province or Country, with whom His Majesty shall not then be at War, or shall within the United Kingdom or any of His Majesty's Dominions, or in any Settlement, Colony, Territory, Island, or Place belonging or subject to His Majesty, issue, or deliver any Commission for any Ship or Vessel, to the Intent that such Ship or Vessel shall be employed as aforesaid, every such person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a Misdemeanor, and shall, upon Conviction thereof upon any Information or Indictment, be punished by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of them, at the Discretion of the Court in which such Offender shall be convicted; and every such Ship or Vessel, with the Tackle, Apparel, and Furniture, together with all the Materials, Arms, Ammunition, and Stores which may belong to or be on board of any such Ship or Vessel, shall be forfeited; and it shall be lawful for any Officer of His Majesty's Customs or Excise, or any Officer of His Majesty's Navy, who is by Law empowered to make Seizures for any Forfeiture incurred under any of the Laws of Customs or Excise, or the Laws of Trade and Navigation, to seize such Ships and Vessels aforesaid, and in such Places and in such Manner in which the Officers of His Majesty's Customs or Excise and the Officers of His Majesty's Navy are empowered respectively to make Seizures under the Laws of Customs and Excise, or under the Laws of Trade and Navigation; and that every such Ship and Vessel, with the Tackle, Apparel, and Furniture, together with all the Materials, Arms, Ammunition, and Stores which may belong to or be on board of such Ship or Vessel, may be prosecuted and condemned in the like Manner and in such Courts as Ships or Vessels may be prosecuted and condemned for any Breach of the Laws made for the Protection of the Revenues of Customs and Excise, or of the Laws of Trade and Navigation."

And it is in and by the said Act further enacted,—

"That if any Person in any Part of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or in any Part of His Majesty's Dominions beyond the Seas, without the Leave and Licence of His Majesty for that Purpose first had and obtained as aforesaid, shall, by adding to the Number of the Guns of such Vessel, or by changing those on board for other Guns, or by the addition of any Equipment for War, increase or augment, or procure to be increased or augmented, or shall be knowingly concerned in increasing or augmenting, the Warlike Force of any Ship or Vessel of War or Cruizer, or other armed Vessel, which at the Time of her Arrival in any Part of the United Kingdom or any of His Majesty's Dominions was a Ship of War, Cruizer, or armed Vessel in the Service of any Foreign Prince, State, or Potentate, or of any Person or Persons exercising or assuming to exercise any Powers of Government in or over any Colony, Province, or Part of any Province or People belonging to the Subjects of any such Prince, State, or Potentate, or to the Inhabitants of any Colony, Province, or Part of any Province or Country under the Control of any Person or Persons so exercising or assuming to exercise the Powers of Government, every such Person so offending shall be deemed guilty of a Misdemeanor, and shall, upon being convicted thereof upon any Information or Indictment, be punished by Fine and Imprisonment, or either of them, at the Discretion of the Court before which such Offender shall be convicted."

Now, in order that none of Our Subjects may unwarily render themselves liable to the Penalties imposed by the said Statute, We do hereby strictly command, that no Person or Persons whatsoever do commit any Act, Matter, or Thing whatsoever contrary to the Provisions of the said Statute, upon Pain of the several Penalties by the said Statute imposed, and of Our high Displeasure.

And We do hereby warn and admonish all Our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, to observe towards each and all of the aforesaid Sovereigns, their Subjects and Territories, and towards all Belligerents whatsoever with whom we are at Peace, the Duties of Neutrality; and to respect, in all and each of them, the Exercise of those Belligerent Rights which We, and Our Royal Predecessors, have always claimed to exercise.

And We do hereby further warn all Our loving Subjects, and all Persons whatsoever entitled to Our Protection, that if any of them shall presume, in contempt of this Our Royal Proclamation and of Our high Displeasure, to do any Acts in derogation of their Duty as Subjects of a Neutral Sovereign, in a War between other Sovereigns, or in violation or contravention of the Law of Nations in that Behalf, as more especially by breaking, or endeavouring to break, any Blocade lawfully and actually established by or on behalf of any or either of the said Sovereigns, by carrying Officers, Soldiers, Despatches, Arms, Ammunition, Military Stores or Materials, or any Article or Articles considered and deemed to be contraband of War, according to the Law or modern Usages of Nations, for the Use or Service of any or either of the said Sovereigns, that all Persons so offending, together with their Ships and Goods, will rightfully incur and be justly liable to hostile Capture, and to the Penalties denounced by the Law of Nations in that Behalf.

And We do hereby give notice, that all Our Subjects and Persons entitled to Our Protection who may misconduct themselves in the Premises will do so at their peril, and of their own Wrong, and that they will in nowise obtain any Protection from Us against such Capture or such Penalties as aforesaid, but will, on the contrary, incur Our high Displeasure by such Misconduct.

Given at Our Court at Buckingham Palace, this Thirteenth Day of May, in the Year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine, and in the Twenty-second Year of Our Reign.

GOD SAVE THE QUEEN.

THE Photographic News is now the recognised organ of Photography, the medium of communication and interchange of ideas between advanced students, and the record of all improvements and discoveries which take place in the Art.

"One such discovery is announced in the current number of the Photographic News; for photography itself—a science of our own age—already has so vast a practical business that it supports a journal of its own, and whether for the practical man or the deep-thinking philosopher, there are few journals more interesting than this weekly paper."—Spectator.

THE LATE OPERATIONS IN THE PEIHO.

WE have little to add to the narratives of our correspondents published in our issue of the 9th inst. We have however been set right in a few details.

One point of importance we are glad to be able to correct. We had understood that the officer first sent in by the Admiral was received by a mandarin. It seems that no mandarins appeared at all. Some of the common people calling themselves braves, under a leader, and a contractor engaged in fixing the piles and booms which crossed the river, presented themselves, but maintained positively that there were no mandarins near the place, and that the works in progress were undertaken at the expense of the people and without any authority from the government; also, that their object was the defence of the coast against rebels or pirates, and not hostility or hindrance to us. Indeed the contractor promised to have the way clear for us in two days.

We are also glad to be assured that Admiral Hope's appearance at Takoo in the first instance was so unmistakeably pacific in character. A solitary man-of-war's boat carried in his first message. The Fury and two gun-boats were left outside the bar; the rest of the squadron was lying thirty miles off at Shalu-tsen, and when the Admiral did come in, he is stated to have handed in a letter requesting that a market might be opened at the fort, as his ships would remain there until Mr. Bruce's return from Peking.

There is another error in our last issue; that several letters and messengers passed between Mr. Bruce and the mandarins, who said Mr. Bruce would be received at Peking by some roundabout way, but that the river was blocked up and no man-of-war would be allowed to pass. Mr. Bruce it appears, received but one communication from the shore, the contents of which have not transpired. It was brought from the mouth of another stream not, so far as we can ascertain, a branch of or connected with the river we call the Peiho. The place was visited subsequently by the Americans who found the water too shoal for their boat and consequently had to wade in to the shore. They tried another landing and were pursued into the water by some cavalry. The letter brought to Mr. Bruce was found to have been two days on the road and was delivered on the 25th June, but a few hours before the Admiral, as he had given notice he would, attempted to pass the booms; when the firing began.

We gather from all we can collect on the subject that if the Chinese Government did intend eventually to admit us by some new route, it took care not to inform us of the fact; for some reason or other it kept away from Takoo any one who might have informed us that the old route, which is not closed to trade, for junks were seen thick above the forts, was closed to the Ministers who, all the world has been aware for a twelvemonth, were coming to Peking to exchange Ratifications of the Treaties. If a foreign minister had been told, by a responsible authority, You cannot pass this way, by the Emperor's orders you must go round by such or such a road, he might have had difficulty in calling on his Admiral to force the passage. But this is precisely what the Chinese Government did not do. On the contrary it appears to have taken every precaution to be unrepresented in the matter, quite prepared, we cannot but think, had Admiral Hope's movement succeeded, to throw the entire blame on the country people, who, as they themselves alleged, had run up these works without its orders and fire without its authority.

There are some contradictions which we cannot explain. Why should an unwarlike and very embarrassed government fight at all? Was it out of revenge for the half hour's thrashing we gave it last year? or was it that it thought that we were coming to get something more out of it? or was it determined not to leave us in the enjoyment even of what we had extorted?

Our Chinese gossips were agreed from the first that many conditions in the treaty of Tien-tsin the Emperor would never consent to carry out, and have pointed to the fact, which the Peking Gazette put beyond dispute, that Sangkolinsin had so early as last winter assembled a very large force in the neighbourhood of Tien-tsin, as evidence of a determination to keep us out of Peking. When it was announced, however, that the foreign ministers were merely about to visit the capital and did not intend to reside there, a rumour, which we have before noticed began to grow, that the Emperor himself was anxious for peace, and had issued his instructions accordingly. Still we see Sangkolinsin did not break up his camp, and we find an opinion now current among the Chinese, and supported in some degree by what has fallen from Romish missionaries stationed in or near Peking, that he had declared, happen what might, our ships should not enter the Tien-tsin river. The Emperor, it is said, stands in much awe of this Mongolian and his followers, to whom he was much beholden in 1854, when the Tai-ping rebels came so close to his capital. On the other hand, we repeat, no one can doubt that, however much he might dread the consequences of a failure, provided His Majesty could so screen himself as to be able subsequently to disavow an act of hostility, he would not object to seeing the barbarian's head broken. What he, or whoever it was whose war-counsels prevailed, has overlooked, is the certainty that the barbarian will not give in merely because he has come to grief in the first round. The check we have sustained, and with us our gallant allies, of the conduct of whose small quota every one speaks in the highest terms, is too prominent to be left where it lies. It should teach us a little humility, we admit, and we shall therefore abstain from all whooping on the subject; but we cannot suppose that the twelvemonth will pass without such an effort on the part of France and England to re-establish their prestige as will make the Court of Peking rue the clumsy treachery it has perpetrated.

A Gazette of the 27th May which has just come to hand contains the official report of Peh-kwei's death drawn up by the general, and two lieutenant-generals of the Tartar garrison, and the Hoppo. Hwang, the Governor-general, says the document, cannot add his name as he is still engaged against rebels in Ho-yuen, a district in the east of Kwang-tung. It is observable how in small things the dogged determination of the Chinese Government, treaty or no treaty, to depart from none of its traditions, manifests itself. We drew attention nearly a year ago (North-China Herald, Aug. 21, 1858) to the infraction of Art. 51 of the Treaty of Tien-tsing by the use of the word barbarian. In an Imperial Decree of the 25th July, 1858, the Emperor informed his subjects that "the barbarians who had come headlong with their ships to Tien-tsing, had in obedience to the commands of Kweiliang and Hwashana, signified to them with affectionate earnestness, weighed anchors and stood out to sea."

Later, on the 15th August, as the Tariff Commission was leaving Peking, its junior member, Twan, hoped and trusted, in his farewell memorial, (North-China Herald, Sept. 11, 1858), "that in the conciliation of the barbarian and in the collection of the revenue," his errand would so prosper as to aid His Majesty's high purpose of giving peace, &c. &c.

Whether on the remonstrances of Lord Elgin or otherwise we are unable to say, but a Chinese correspondent employed to supply us with yamun gossip during the sittings of the Tariff Commission, informed us that Kweiliang had forbidden the application of the word "barbarian" to foreigners.

The prohibition had evidently no more than a local effect. In the paper before us, we are spoken of by no other term. Pihkwei, although seventy years old, had been well and hearty till last year when the anxieties occasioned by barbarian business and war business proved too much for him. An ulcer appeared either on his lips or his palate, and he died full of gratitude to the Emperor for unrequited goodness, and full of regrets that he could not see the barbarians out of the city with his own eyes, and order restored in the province.

Thus we find one stipulation of the new Treaty, at all events, a stipulation too conceding no more than the common civility which, in their relations with each other, the Chinese pique themselves so much on understanding, disregarded at Peking by the Emperor himself in less than a month after the Treaty was signed, and, even after a year's law, unknown, or, if known, ignored by provincials whose wrongdoing is endorsed by its publication at the capital. At the present conjuncture, especially, we look on all these items of Chinese unchangeableness as significant.

The Mongolian General Shing Paou, who is in charge of the military movements in Gan-hwuy province, has just issued a proclamation to the following effect, which has been circulated for general information. A copy is posted on the north gate of Shanghae:—

After the capture of Keang-pou and Poo-kow by the imperial troops, the rebel Le* again planted his retainers in the neighbourhood of Poo-kow, Seaou-teen and Ch'a-ho, with a view to renew disturbances. An efficient body of troops was sent to exterminate the marauders, who were slain without number, and more than ten camps demolished near Ch'a-ho. The east having been thus cleared of the depredators, the leaders Szeyen-fooy † "Four-eyed hound," Chin Yuh-ching and Le conducted a numerous body, attacked and destroyed the camp of the treasurer Le Chang-ching, to the west, intending forthwith to advance upon the city of Tung-yuen. The commander Shing led forward a company of troops in person and stopped their advance, at Pa-tou hill. The rebels then collected together an immense rabble at Lew-chow, Tsaou-keen, Woo-wei, Sunking, and Tung-kow river, numbering in all some seventy or eighty thousand, which they distributed at various appointed stations. The officers of the Meaou-tsze legion at Hwae-pih, Sea Leih-chwang and Tsow Chaou-yuen, were then despatched each with a detachment of braves, who encamped at Tsing-lung chang and Sin-ka-kang, acting as reserves to the regular troops. From the 23rd day of the 2nd month, to about the 7th of the 3rd month, (March 27th—April 9th) the commander Shing being at the head of the troops in person, scarcely a day passed without hostile encounters, so that the insurgents have met with irremediable disasters; within the space of ten days the three chiefs Tsih-teen-tsin Seaou-teen-yu Jing-teen-hwa, and several others were put to the sword, and four or five thousand of the most desperate of the old long-haired rebels were massacred. After the marauders had experienced this disastrous reverse, they did not venture again to look towards Ting-yuen; but made their escape furtively by the north east, and again assembled in conclave. The imperial troops have now following up their recent successes, determined on the extermination of these rebels, and in two successive engagements at Ku-keatseih and Wang-hway-kang, they put the enemy to the rout, and captured flags, arms and cattle innumerable. Those who escaped fled toward the south-eastern border. Commander Shing dividing his company, sent a detachment in pursuit of the fugitives, and returned with the remainder to Ting-yuen, pitching his tent at Yinkeen, when operations were set on foot for the pacification of Fung-lin and Hwae-yuen.

While commander Shing was thus occupied with the Kwang-se rebels on the south, Kung Hea-tsze (Blind Kung) the head of the Rioters‡ conceived the idea of acting in concert with the latter, and with his adherents continued crossing the Hwae river for several successive nights, burning and plundering all along the line, through Lew-foo, Meaou-keu-ying and Hoo-kea-tseih, intending to attack the camp at Yin-keen, with an ultimate design on Ting-yuen. But they had left out of account the dexterity of Shing's troops, who having put to the rout the long-haired rebels on the south, had already returned and organized further movements. Parties of cavalry and infantry having been despatched against Kung, upwards of a thousand were laid dead on the field; besides which the numbers of those who were taken alive and others decapitated were marvellous. They were pursued and slaughtered for a distance of more than 40 le; their ordinance and small arms, cattle and grain being captured to an incalculable amount. Kung will surely meet an untimely fate; his followers fled in disorder, and made towards Hwae-yuen, while the signal victory of our troops cheered every heart. Since Shing has been in command of the troops, by dint of severity and conciliation, he indulges the hope that he has done much towards the suppression of the spirit of revolt. Thus giving the evil-disposed an opportunity to reverse their course, the mass will know that by timely repentance, they may avert the dire consequences of their conduct; and these may also be employed against the Kwang-se rebels; so that this extra display of favour is preferable to complete extermination. Some of them have already distinguished themselves in conflicts with the long-haired men; such as Le Sih-ching, Seih-Ching-keang and others, who have given proofs of their loyalty, which will lead to remote futurity. Their heroic deeds will gain them laurels in time to come; their spouses will be honoured, and their sons promoted, while wealth unbounded will flow into their coffers. Now Chang Yuen-tae, Le Yun, Han Sen-fung and others who at present hold possession of the city of Fung-yang, have repented of their conduct, and become desirous to amend, having had several interviews, so that it is evident from their respectful demeanour, that they will very soon shave their heads and give in their allegiance, receiving the tokens of imperial approbation. The two leaders Chang Lo-hing and Blind Kung on the other hand are adders and scorpions at heart, being determined to persist in their criminal course, and are making themselves the tools of the long-haired rebels; turning a deaf ear to the imperial invitation, their crimes have reached to the heavens; depraved and ignorant by nature, they are inferior to the brutes; heaven and earth cannot contain them; they are hastening to their own perdition. Shing having already selected troops, has forwarded orders to Foo the military officer at Yang-chow, to proceed northward with a force, and exterminate them; it being necessary to advance and hem them in by land and water, and make a clean sweep of their nest.

This is issued for the information of the military, the people &c., that all who are in the imperial service may rouse their energies to the utmost, to rid the country of this pest. Let every man do his duty and the outlaws will soon find themselves in the position of fish in a caldron, or wild beasts in a pitfall. Their extermination will be the work of an hour.

The Hon'ble F. W. Bruce and M. de Bourboulon, the Ministers of England and France with their Suites have arrived in Shanghai. The former in the Coromandel, the latter in the Du Chayla. The Magicienne and Assistance are gone to an anchorage off Chinhae, Ningpo, near Kintang Island, where the British Squadron will rendezvous, to recruit the sick and wounded. The Hesper arrived yesterday, from the Gulf on the 8th. The Admiral in the Chesapeake was waiting until the disabled Gun-boats were ready to accompany him to the rendezvous. The Highflyer was to leave on the 8th for Shanghai, under sail, where she will take her station again as Guardship. The Cruiser and two Gun-boats will remain in the Gulf.

We learn that arrangements had been made for a meeting of the American Minister, Mr. Ward, and the governor-general of Chihli, Hang. The meeting was to take place on the 8th inst. at Peh-tang, the northern entrance to the Pei-ho, about ten miles distant from Taku. The question of going to Peking, it was expected, would be decided on at that meeting.

A supply of provisions had been sent off to the American ships, and it was said that instructions had been issued, by the Emperor to his high officers, to receive and escort the Minister and his suite to the Capital, for the exchange of the ratified copies of the treaty. The Russian treaty had already been exchanged.

Horace Rumbold, Esq. and Mons. Le Comte Kleczkowski, Secretaries of the British and French Legations proceed by this mail with dispatches for their respective Governments.

The private Steamer, Yang-tsze, has again brought the mail. She arrived on the 13th with dates from London, May 26th, —Bombay, 16th,—Galle, 22d, June,—Singapore, 2d,—Hongkong, 10th inst. The mail arrived at Hongkong on the 9th per Pekin. The list of passengers will be found in the usual place.

Time, 44 days to Hongkong—18 days to Shanghai.

The Continental war absorbs all other topics. This is the first intimation we have received of blood having been shed in this great conflict. A battle was fought at Montebello on the 20th May. The Austrians advanced upon Casteggio and the former place, with the view of cutting off the French from Genoa, they drove in the Piedmontese out-posts but were compelled to retreat in the direction of Stradella with loss of killed, wounded and prisoners. The statements put forth by each side of the numbers engaged and lost were received with suspicion. Two other skirmishes or encounters as they can scarcely be called battles, had taken place. It is supposed they were intended by Louis Napoleon as a diversion until he could get re-inforcements of artillery from France. The position of the French was a triangle, formed by Casale, Alessandria and Casteggio. The Austrians have their head quarters at Garlasco with their extreme right at Novara. Louis Napoleon was received with enthusiasm by the Piedmontese. He has ordered all the Austrian ports except Trieste to be blockaded.

Garibaldi and his volunteers landed at Ancona and are inciting a revolutionary movement in Lombardy.

Cash payments were suspended at the Sardinian Bank; the Government is hard pressed for money.

The King of Sardinia was dangerously wounded at the head of his troops in a desperate battle that had taken place between the Franco-Sardinian army and the Austrians.

The King of Naples is dead; his son the Duke of Calabria has succeeded to the throne under the title of Francis II.

Russia has sent a force of 8,000 men into Bessarabia with some ulterior motive.

The British Parliament was to meet for business on the 7th June. Recruiting for the navy was going on successfully. The Volunteer Rifle Corps movement was very popular and spreading rapidly.

10,000 soldiers are to be added to the garrison at Malta.

The Queen of England has issued the Proclamation, which appears in our Official column, declaring her intention to maintain a strict neutrality during the present war on the Continent.

Prussia, Belgium, and Switzerland have also resolved to maintain strict neutrality.

Sir Michael Seymour is gazetted a G.C.B.

Lord Canning has been raised to an Earldom, and Lord Elphinstone to the English Peerage. Sir John Lawrence has been invested with the Grand Cross of the Bath and sworn in as a member of the Privy Council.

The bridge across the Nile connecting the two rails is completed and now passengers and luggage pass right through Egypt by train without any water conveyance. It was opened on the 24th May with grand ceremony.

The Straits Times Extra says,—"The Pekin was detained at Galle five days awaiting the arrival of the Nubia from Suez, which vessel experienced very heavy weather coming down the Red Sea." We cannot see how that could be, if, as stated in the same column, the Pekin left Bombay on the 16th and Galle on the 22d June, five days being allowed for the passage.

A great reaction had taken place in the money market. The funds show great firmness. Consols having risen to 91¾ a 92. There was abundance of money seeking employment. The P. & O. S. N. Company's mail Steamer Formosa arrived on the 15th with the newspapers. The letters had been received and answered by the Yang-tsze.

The following description of the Taku forts reached us too late for insertion in our last.

Gulf of Pechili,
Off the Pei-ho, 3rd July, 1859.

The Fleet having arrived at the rendezvous, near the "Sha-lui-tien" Islands on the 16th, the Admiral went in close to the mouth of the river on the following day, and with his two officers and I had an opportunity of looking at the works; a sight which was soon after accorded to the whole force. The river was found to be very effectually barred across by means of iron stakes of a formid able appearance as well as bounds of ingenious construction, and of considerable strength.

These bounds are raked by the fire of newly constructed Forts on either bank of the river, occupying nearly the same ground as those of last year only much improved in strength and workmanship. There are altogether five Forts, mounting probably not less than 90 or 100 guns or more properly speaking having embrasures for that number. Each opening was studiously covered by a mat, so that any deficiency in the armament could not be noticed.

The principal Fort is on the South side and contains 50 embrasures. It is composed of three high bastions about 35 feet raised above the ground with 3 guns on each—these bastions are connected by a fortemented wall upwards of 20 feet high, through which the remaining guns fire. The whole Fort is about 600 yards long, and is protected in front by a ditch full of water. Opposite the upper end of this Fort and consequently on the North side is a large Fort also threatening the passage. Higher up are two more, one on either side, and the fifth is quite to the South, and retired some way back from the river's bank. Each fort appeared to have a similar mound in it like the bastions described above, though the arrangement of the outer wall varied according to circumstances. The distance between the extreme Forts might be about a mile and a half. Such is the general appearance presented by the defences of the "Pei-ho." A landing was effected on the 17th and some communication made, as also on the 20th, but no decisive measures were adopted before the night of 24th when an attempt was made to blow up one of the booms sufficiently to enable our Gunboats to make their way through. The result was only partially successful. The Chinese shewed their vigilance by firing two round shot after the explosion had taken place.

On the morning of this day the force had been moved inside the bar, and those who had not their own vessels to live in were quartered in Junks. Next morning (25th) the Despatch vessels and Gun-boats were moved up and the morning was mainly taken up by the operation of getting all the vessels into position, so that each could fire without injury to the other, which appeared a very difficult matter from the narrowness of the deep portion of the river, and the extreme force of the tide. However by noon the positions were almost gained, and the men were piped to dinner. At about 1½ P.M. the Opossum went ahead with Capt. Wilkes on board and deliberately made a rope fast to the iron spikes and moved away two of them, marking the passage by buoys. She then steamed up over the forbidden ground to the next barrier closely followed by the Plover bearing the Admiral's flag. Now the aspect of things changed, there had been an ominous silence in the batteries, and no sign of life but a sailing boat which pushed off just before the stakes were pulled up and came sailing down towards us as confidently went about and returned to the shore. However, no sooner did Opossum and Plover enter the Sanctum, than the mats fell from the embrasures, and shot after shot was poured into the devoted but game little vessels. The squadron returned the fire of course, and the ball being well covered was carried on with a vigour which shewed that we had a Chinese foe to deal with such as we had not been before. Opossum and Plover having let go their anchors close up to the boom held their position for some time until their losses compelled them to drop down a little lower. It was in the foremost position that Admiral Hope was wounded, and Captain McKenna 1st Royals and Lieut. Rason, R.N. killed, the losses amongst the crew being very heavy indeed. The Despatch vessels were pretty well together, the Banterer, Plover and Cormorant were nearly in a line across the river—and in this manner the fight was fiercely carried on by all.

By about 5 P.M. the Lee and the Kestrel were in a sinking state, but the Ports had considerably slackened their heavy fire. The landing party were now sent for, and the boats towed up by the U. S. S. Toucy-nau, obligingly offered by the Commodore, and one of the Gun-boats. They pulled on shore opposite the lower or Southern bastion of the main South Fort.

The fire from the works which had been reserved with judgment was then opened with very great effect upon the leaving party.

(Here our informants narrative is broken off, as the Fury was just leaving.)

H. M. S. Hesper at Sea,
9th July, 1859.

My Dear Sir,—This morning I observed a very dangerous Rock, the particulars concerning which I enclose for publication in your valuable paper.

When first seen it was directly in our track bearing N. 82° E. it then had the appearance of a wreck or abandoned vessel with her timbers a few feet out of water, several birds were perched on it this was at the distance of about one mile and a half, on approaching it nearer there was no doubt in my mind on the subject, however I sent two boats to examine it, passing within 600 yards of the Rock in the ship carrying 12 fathoms water. On sounding from the ship a line of discoloured water was seen stretching away to the westward of the Rock for a considerable distance, whether this is a ledge or reef attached to it or a tide ripple I am not prepared to state, yet as the Commander of H. M. S. Nimrod has reported a Rock within a few miles of the position I assign this Rock great caution is necessary in navigating this entrance to the Gulf of Pechili until it has been more carefully examined and correctly surveyed.

Position of the Rock nearly.—

It lies N. 12° W. about 8¼ miles from the East point of Ta-chiu-shan, and E. 2° S. 8 miles from the South Point of Mochang Shi a small Island on the South side of Ta Ki Island.

When 600 yards distant on the South side of the Rock it was exactly on with the East end of Hwang Chang Tao island then bearing N. 4° E., and when the same distance E.S.E. of it, it was exactly on with the Northern end of Toki island bearing N. 66° W.

All the bearings given are true as to avoid mistakes I have applied the error of my compass to the bearings shown by it.

I may further add that as it was, by the shore, low water at the time, at high water this very dangerous Rock would be quite covered making it much more dangerous than it would be if exposed or uncovered at all times of tides.—I remain, my dear Sir, very truly yours,

JABEZ LOANE,
Master and Commander of H. M. S. "Hesper."

Shanghai, July 5th, 1859.

To the Editor of the North-China Herald.

Dear Sir,—Through the medium of your valuable journal I beg to call the attention of commanders of vessels trading between the newly opened ports of Japan, and the North of China, to unsurveyed parts of the seas in the neighbourhood of Cape Grotto.

On a recent voyage, being bound to Nagasaki, from one of the Northern Ports, I rounded Cape Grotto within one mile, at about 1 P.M., wind blowing fresh from the Northward with thick dirty weather.

From rounding Cape Grotto the Chart gives a clear course to Nagasaki about E. by N., but from the trending of the land I found myself unable to steer a higher course than E.S.E. and eventually passed an island not laid down in the Chart, (latest date) of about 3 to 4 miles in extent, Cape Grotto then bearing E. by N. ¾ N., distant about 13 miles.

Owing to the unsettled state of the weather, I am unable to say the exact position of the island, but the foregoing will I trust be sufficient to place commanders of vessels on their guard when sailing in these waters.

C. J. BOLTON.

THE NUWAB OF FURRUCKABAD.

We republish in another column the sentence on the ex-Nuwab of Furruckabad. This man, a Mussulman noble, murdered sixty-two Englishmen, women, and children under circumstances of the most coldblooded atrocity. After months of unavailing pursuit Major Barrow, Commissioner of the district of Oude to which he had fled, offered him his life provided he had himself committed no murders. The Nuwab surrendered, was tried, found guilty, and sentenced to death. The Governor General, however, while fully coinciding in the verdict, and utterly condemning Major Barrow, held the word of a British officer must be maintained. He declares the criminal, therefore, exempt from the punishment of death.

Thus far the Governor General had, we fear, no option in the matter. But his Lordship proceeds:—

"The Governor General in Council has, therefore, resolved to forbear from carrying out the sentence, of the Court on Tufuzzul Hosein, on the condition that he shall immediately quit the British Territory for ever. If he accept this condition, he will be conveyed to the Frontier as a convict under a Military guard, and there set at liberty. If he refuse the condition, or if having accepted it, he shall break it, or attempt to break it, now, or at any future time, the capi al sentence pronounced upon him will be carried out."

Surely the punishment selected involves something like an official lie. The man is exempted from death under a promise, but if he returns to India he is spite of that promise to be hung. Or is it that the offence of breaking parole is more worthy of death than the murder of sixty-two Europeans and Eurasians, men, women, and children.

The Governor General in Council entirely approves and confirms the verdict and sentence of the Court. The former is fully borne out by the evidence adduced on the trial, and the latter is the only sentence which could properly be passed on the criminal.

But it came out on the trial, and was plead by the prisoner as a bar to the execution of the sentence, that before his surrender a letter had been written to him by Major Barrow, the Special Commissioner with the Camp of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, in which he was invited to surrender, and that in this letter he was told that protection would be extended to all who had not personally committed the murder of British subjects, and that if he had not personally committed the murder of British subjects, he might surrender without apprehensions.

Whatever may have been the meaning of Major Barrow in addressing this letter to Tufuzzul Hosein, and whatever may have been the prisoner's understanding of it at the time, it is certain that on the receipt of it he immediately surrendered. He now claims the fulfilment of the promise of pardon made by Major Barrow, being found guilty, not of having personally committed the murder of English subje ts, but of having been an accessary before the fact.

The Governor General in Council entirely condemns and disavows the act of Major Barrow, in making a promise contrary to the Royal Proclamation, and contrary to the express order of the Government excepting the prisoner from all benefit of pardon: But His Excellency in Council will not suffer it to be said, that the prisoner having been induced to surrender on the promise of a British Officer in Major Barrow's position, has in consequence of that surrender been put to death for a crime of less degree than that which was designed by the Officer as alone rendering him liable to punishment.

The Governor General in Council has, therefore, resolved to forbear from carrying out the sentence of the Court on Tufuzzul Hosein, on the condition that he shall immediately quit the British Territory for ever If he accept this condition, he will be conveyed to the Frontier as a convict under a Military guard, and there set at liberty. If he refuse the condition, or if having accepted it, he shall break it, or attempt to break it, now, or at any future time, the capital sentence pronounced upon him will be carried out.

By Order of the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India.

A correspondent of the Friend of India sends an account of an outbreak of some sepoy convicts in the Andaman islands on the 1st of April last. A conspiracy was formed by some 200 Punjabee Mussulmans, recent arrivals from Kurrachee, to murder the Europeans with their felling axes, seize the schooner Charlotte then in the offing, and sail for Hindostan. Dr. Walker was made aware of it on the morning of that day, and went to office with loaded revolver, having previously made arrangements with Lieut. Hellard to come down with his men on the first alarm. Two of the assassins commenced the attack by felling the European Naval Guardsman on duty opposite the door of the Guard Room. One of them gained possession of his musket but was unable to use it. The native overseer was wounded in making an attempt to seize it, by a third convict. Others stood around looking on. The whole affair did not last ten minutes, when the scoundrels were secured, trial by Mr. Grote who happened to be there, and hanged. There are only 150 of the Naval Brigade over 2,000 sepoys. The savages are still waging war on the working parties of convicts, killing two or three and wounding six or seven in each attack, as well as plundering Government stores. Drive them to one corner of the island and mark out a line beyond which it will be death for any one to come.

WRECK OF THE "JUBILEE" TEA SHIP. CANCELLATION OF THE CERTIFICATE OF THE MASTER.

Yesterday the Board of Trade forwarded to the various local marine boards, a report of Mr. Traill, the Greenwich police-court magisirate, and Captain Harris, nautical assessor, who held the recent investigation into the wreck of the ship Jubilee, from Shanghae to London, off Berck, near Boulogne.

After giving a statement of the circumstances attending the loss of the vessel, Mr. Traill gives the following opinion upon the case:—"On a review of the evidence, it appears that the ship entered the English Channel under very favourable circumstances, having a well-defined departure from the Start Point, a fair wind off shore, smooth water, and moderate weather for the season of the year; and that, besides being able to have kept in with the English land, had the master thought fit, he had the advantage of an observation, from which he might have learnt the ship's position a little more than six hours before she went on shore. I am, therefore, of opinion that the loss of the ship was owing to the default of Captain John Douglas, the master—first, in not verifying the ship's position, upon finding the variance between the observation and the reckoning by account, and in not making for the English coast before dark and laying a course corresponding to the true position of the ship at noon; and again in not making free use of the lead when the two lights on the port bow were observed, whereby he might have discovered his error whilst it was not too late to be repaired."

In giving this opinion Mr. Traill stated that the captain's employers spoke of him in terms of high commendation.

The report was signed by Mr. Traill and Captain Henry Harris.

The judgment of the Board of Trade on the case was that their lordships thought it right to cancel the master's certificate of service, and to allow him to go up for examination for a certificate of competency after a lapse of twelve months.—Morning Herald, May 3.

The King of Denmark, to mark his appreciation of the services of Mr. J. Jarvie, Consul for Denmark at Singapore, in negotiating a Treaty of Friendship and Commerce between Denmark and Siam, has recently invested that gentleman a Chevalier of the Royal Order of Danebrog. A Danish man-of-war may be expected here about September, which, after carrying the ratified treaty to Siam, will proceed to Japan with a Plenipotentiary empowered to negotiate a treaty with the Government of that country.—Singapore Free Press, June 2.
